RELIGIOUS LIBERTY SOUGHT IN PARLEY FOR RECOGNITION

Freedom of Church Affiliation of U.S. Citizens in Russia Made Part of Program for Agreement With Soviet.

DECISION EXPECTED WITHIN TWO DAYS

Litvinoff Believed Wait ing Word From Moscow on Replies to U.S. Demands.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14 .- (AP)-Religious freedom for American citizens in Russia today was disclosed as one of the subjects on which an understanding is being sought by President Roosevelt before an announcement of Russian recognition.

The chief executive is insistent that nationals of this country in the soviet state must have virtually the same liberty of worship they have in the United States. The response of Maxim Litvinoff, soviet commissar for foreign affairs, was not made known, but the White House still felt an accord between the nations was probable before the president leaves for Warm Springs, Ga., Circles close to the soviet delegation said, meanwhile, that citizens of other countries were accorded freedom of religious worship in Russia and the question should not be one to stand in the way of restoring diplomatic re-

Wants Issue Settled.

In view, however, of the anxiety of religious groups in the United States because of the soviet attitude toward religion, it was felt Mr. Roosevelt wanted the issue fully settled so it might not be a source of future irritation.

A two-day recess in the parleys be-tween the president, his assistants, and Litvinoff led also to the belief in authoritative quarters that the soviet commissar might be awaiting word from his government on the religious question and other matters.

In this connection, it was recalled that President Roosevelt, in his message to the president of the soviet, mentioned difficulties to be cleared away before recognition. The chief executive made it plain, however, that executive made it plain, however, that he did not regard these as insoluble. It was known that debts and prop-aganda have been studied thoroughly Continued in Page 4, Column 8.

MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 14 .- (P) Secretary Wallace tonight asked that America take a position either for reducing tariffs or curbing production or a compromise between the two and to be prepared to stick to its decision for from 10 to 15 years. In an address which had White Lost Confidence.

"We have lost all confidence in this committee, including Chairman Connally, democrat, Texas, and excluding Senator Thomas, and we withdraw from the investigation," said Mr. Rightor as he paced back and forth before the rostrum shaking his fist. "This investigation has degenerated into an effort to purify Huey Long and whitewash this investigation."

"Get out from in front of this committee and stay away from here," shouted Senator Logan, acting chairman, trembling with emotion. "You will not be recognized further by this committee. You have nothing to do with it."

The crowd of men and women applauded and yelled and Francis Williams, an anti-Long political leader, jumped up and demanded recognition. He got in return a citation for contempt along with Mr. Rightor, who Senator Logan said would be cited for contempt to the full committee who would decide if they would be brought Standard Statistics Company estimated today that by January 1, 1934, the Class 1 railroads of the country will, in the aggregate, probably have fully earned their fixed charges for the entire calendar year of 1933—and this despite a $122,000,000 deficit for the first five months of the year.

was an important factor in the formation of the R. F. C. was the inability of the railroads to earn their fixed charges—chiefly bond interest. This threatened widespread bankruptcies and severe losses to banks, insurance companies and trust funds which long have been heavy investors in rail stocks.

have been heavy investors in rail stocks.

In recent months, however, the carriers have been leaning less and less on R. F. C. loans. As of September 30, last, roads had borrowed a total of $381,313,000 from the R. F. C. and repaid about $50,000,000. Emphasis in Washington is no longer being placed on preserving the solvency of the railroads so much as providing them with credit to resume more normal expenditures for equipment and maintenance, as a measure of providing employment. In 1932 substantial loans were made to meet interest on debt, inasmuch as the carriers failed to earn fixed charges in that year by $153,000,000.

Toward $466,685 Goal. U. S. Employes Pledge Support of Drive.

Announcement of nearly 30 "100 per cent" firms where all employes gave or pledged to the Community Chest, and resolutions by employes of the federal government expressing confidence in the Community Chest as the most practical, effective and economical agency for social service and relief, featured the first day's drive Tuesday to raise $466,885 for the needy of Atlanta.

While the total of amounts raised or pledged for the day were not available Monday night, it is expected that when the amount is announced at the first luncheon meeting of the workers today, it will indicate that the solicitors have worked with a will, and that Atlantans, generous as they have always been in the past, have signified that they are not willing that "One Out of Five Shall Stare."

Decatur Court Hears

Candler Monkey Suit

The issue of whether a monkey from the Briarcliff zoo of Asa G. Candler Jr. got into the automobile of Mrs. Mary L. Smith, of 60 Briarcliff circle, and terrorized her to the extent that her nervous system was wrecked went on trial Tuesday before Judge Frank Guess in city court of Decatur, with $25,000 as the price asked by Mrs. Smith for the alleged damage to her nerves.

Five witnesses testified for the plaintiff Tuesday before court was recessed until 9 o'clock this morning. The detense of Candler, who was in court Tuesday, probably will begin today, it was said. The incident charged in the suit is alleged to have happened in August, 1931, it was said. Mrs. Smith is represented by Howell, Heyman & Bolding, and Candler by Branch & Howard.

NEW AVENUE FOR SCIENCE OPENCE, OPENED, DOCTORS ASSERT NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 14.—

(P)—Medical men eagerly discussed tonight the possibilities of a specific cure for tuberculosis offered by experiments in which Dr. Stephen J. Maher changed germs responsible for this dreaded disease into harmless bacteria.

Like Dr. Maher himself, most of the experts couched their comments on the probable therapeutic value of his experiments in careful and conservative language, but virtually all were agreed that a new avenue had been opened for science's relentless search for a cure by Dr. Maher's announcement that he had succeeded in breaking down the germ into bacterin which produce an acid lethal to the tubercle bacillus.

The decision of the Atlanta Bar Association to make a careful and disinterested study of existing legislation affecting Fulton county, with the view of proposing a new code for the regulation of county affairs, should bring about reforms that will not only safeguard the interests of the public but enable our county officials to more efficiently perform their duties.

Many of the laws under which the local administration is operating were enacted when conditions were far different from those now existing. The result is that these antiquated statutes are actually harmaring instead of facilitating in the condition of the community would have dubbed him an uncivilized lout and vulgarian and they probably have been right. THE WORLD'S News Behind the News

By Paul Mallon.

BUNK WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The White House became alaramed about the farm uprising ten days ago.

It secretly sent confidential scouts out into the trouble area. Some were disguised as magazine writers and others as reporters for eastern administration papers. They were told to find out what these bridge-burning episodes meant, whether revolution was really

These men have now reported that the farm scare was more than 50 per cent hooey. They say a radical minority of farm leaders gave the country an exaggerated idea of existing farm sentiment. There is unrest, they say, but it is largely sane and a long way from being revolutionary.

SALES Easterners may laugh that off as administration propaganda. They have seen accounts of property destruc-tion. They have noted the farm barometers—men like Senators Borah and Norris—running a temperature of 104. The surface in-dications surely suggest that the revolution may begin any minute. The inner indications do not. They bolster the administration

The best statistics on farm sentiment probably are the sales sheets of three firms—Sears, Roebuck; Montgomery Ward and

You will be astonished to learn that their sales in October were 11 to 20 per cent over October a year ago. Yet the sales in city department stores in October are exactly the same as a year ago.

FACTS Believe it or not, here are the statistics from the revolution area:

Montgomery Ward sold twenty-three million dollars' worth of goods in October, compared with sixteen millions in September. The October figure is just 16.2 per cent better than it was a year The September figure is 13.4 per cent over last September Sears, Roebuck in the four weeks ending November 5 sold twenty-eight millions, up 20.9 from a year ago.

J. C. Penney sold eighteen millions in October, a gain of 11 per cent over last year; sixteen millions in September, a gain of 24.8 That means the three firms which are supposed to sell largely to farmers sold approximately seventy million dollars' worth last tober as in October last year; 3 per cent more in September this year and 20 per cent more in August. Which would indicate that revoluting might have more Justification in cities than on farms.

REPORT A highly trusted non-partisan source, in intimate touch with lows conditions, writes confidentially: "I'll raise $500 and bet you that I can take you for two miles in New York city and find more pickets than you can find in the entire state of lowa.

- last week reported troops patrolling "The magazine the highways and picketing of highways widespread. No troops are out and there is no widespread picketing—in fact, none except around Sioux City and that is on an 'on again—off again' Eastern news vendors shout: Troops standing by as lowa seethes.' Pure bunk.

"There absolutely has been no move by the governor to call troops. Four businessmen in Sioux City asked troops. The sheriff there said troops were not needed. They were not sent.
"I hate to see the great and splendid body of lowa farmers continue to get a black eye around the country. PROOF These deductions are further bolstered by the survey made by the Des Moines Register and Tribune. It sent out ten newsmen and two photographers on its rural routes in every section of the state when the farm strike was ordered. Interviews with farmers and merchants were published.

These indicated clearly that the average lowa farmer was not satisfied with conditions but was actually more hopeful than in years. Incidentally, they also indicated that "the average farmer still has great faith in Roosevelt and that he wants to give Roosevelt a chance to work out his program."

Balancing the situation inside and out, and allowing for possible prejudice against the fervent agitators, it still seems that the revolution is just around that same corner Mr. Hoover thought prosperity was around.

Persons with authority have launched a movement to purge the merican bar of its criminal members.

The ordinary citizen feels little interest in the movement; but he as a matter of vital importance, for it may change the whole course of his life.

Lawyers shape the destiny of America as the potter shapes his clay. When people speak of a ruling class, they usually mean the rich; but the class that rules America is composed of lawyers. That is not an exaggeration, but a simple statement of fact.

The supreme court, which has power to veto laws demanded by the people, is a body of lawyers. With few exceptions, all judges are lawyers—and their rulings, made without the consent of the people, have the force of law.

More often than not the president is a lawyer, and he chooses law-

RELIGIOUS LIBERTY SOUGHT IN PARLEY FOR RECOGNITION

CALDELAS DE TUY, Spain, Nov.

14.—(P)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh said today he is considering flying across the middle Atlantic by stages as a continuation of his aerial survey of the north Atlantic.

He will not fly non-stop, he said, and it was indicated that he may follow the route originally mapped by the late Captain Alan Winslow and followed in reverse last summer by the Italian seaplane squadron under the command of Italo Balbo.

Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, who were forced down near here by fog yesterday on a flight from Santona, Snain, to Lisbon, planned to continue the journey tomorrow if weather permits. They spent their second night aboard the plane.

Aviation officials believed Colonel Lindbergh might halt at Bermuda and the Azores on the return flight. In this way he will have checked flying conditions in both directions across the northern and southern routes.

These 36 sons of old Russia, popularly known as the "Singing Horsemen of the Steppes," need no introduction to Atlanta. They are remembered for their thrilling concert here two seasons ago, and music lovers throughout this section have eagerly awaited their return. The enthusinasm of their last audience has not waned, but has been so keenly shown and expressed as to "sell" the Cossacks to hundreds who failed to hear them before. The audience this time will be nearly twice as large as it was before.

The Cossacks, all officers in the former Imperial Russian army, make a striking appearance in their Cossack uniforms. They march onto the stage, and with arms folded wait the command of their diminutive but dynamic leader, Serge Jaroff. This chorus was formed by Mr. Jaroff in a prison camp during the World War, and he has been their only conductor. The supreme court of Georgia Tuesday upheld the decision of Judge W. E. H. Searcy Jr., of Griffin, sitting in Fulton superior court, in refusing to permit P. C. McDuffie, Atlanta lawyer, to file quo warranto proceedings against the May-June Fulton county grand jury on the ground that it was drawn illegally.

The high court sustained Judge Searcy's action in holding that the members of the grand jury were legally drawn. McDuffie in his petition to the superior court charged that the grand jurors were "hand-picked." Judge Searcy heard the case after the five members of the Fulton superior court disqualified themselves.

MAN HURT WHEN TRUCK HITS HOLCOMBE'S CAR

For the second time in a long police career, Captain A. J. Holcombe, of the evening warth, Tuesday made out a report on an automobile accident in which he was involved and in which a passenger, George F. Cole, of a Hardee street address, was injured. Traveling along Glenwood avenue, Captain Holcombe's car was struck by a truck driven by A. E. Cowart, at the corner of Glenwood and Connally street, and was badly damaged. Cole was taken to a private physician for treatment for a fractured rib and no case was made against Cowart.

Sunlight and shadow danced on the trail, brightly carpeted with autumn finery. The air was brisk and heady. Up and up with the tang of the woods in their nostrils. Presently they came to a clearing.

"What say we dismount and stretch our legs?" Jack Burton suggested. "It's been a pretty steady climb. You'll sit your saddle easier for a rest."

Sue was glad for the interval. They turned into the clearing. Jack Burton tethered the horses to the limb of a tree. A fallen log, moss-cushioned, invited them to rest on its ample trunk.

"You've done splendidly," Burton encouraged. "When you get a little "No. Except that he's a good horseman and he's been nice to Tommy."

"I'd avoid going out with him, alone. Though there's no use acting as if you're in a nunnery."

"I'll let him understand I prefer to be left to myself," Sue determined. Being always alone is more conspicuous than being discreetly squired. But be natural and when you ride again, see that Tommy is with you."

But Sue was saved the necessity for decision regarding the attentions of Jack Burton. For Tommy came in with the news his friend, Jack, hand been called away suddenly and had already left Green Springs. (Copyright, 1933, for The Constitution.)

Rendon Quartet Victorious In Vanderbilt Bridge Play

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(49)—After one of the hardest-fought final rounds in the history of the classic matches, the team of Frank Repdon, Benjamin Feuer, Sidney Rusinow and Phil Abramsohn emerged victorious today in the 1933 Vanderbilt cup contract bridge championship.

The final match required the play of 100 boards in three sessions yesterday and today, and at no time did the victors possess a commanding margin over the vanquisbed, L. H. Watson, A. M. Barnes, Richard Frey

The order to the classic matches. The winning four included the victors as "hard, uninteresting bridge." There were few big hands, and few important swings. There was little to choose between the teams. The winning four included one lawyer, Feuer, and three operators of bridge clubs. Rendon is a tournament veleran and the holder of several cups; the others are novices in big-time bridge.

On the other team, Watson, Barnes, Frey and Fry, all are experienced players and holders of individual trophies, but have never won an important match as a team. Both teams, however, played together extremely well.

The bidding (North and South passing): W. one no trump; E. two no trump; W. three no trump. The contract, which should not have been made, was possible because of a slip in defense on the club suit. A diamond was opened and West cleared that suit for three tricks and one to North's ace. North then opened his nine of clubs, East played the ten, South the jack, West the queen. Two spade leads again gave North the lead and, for some unexplained reason, he put down the king of clubs, giving West a total of four tricks in that suit and the contract. At the other table, Barnes and Watson stopped at two no trump played by West and a heart was opened, making it possible for South to collect three tricks in that suit later. Close club defense gave Rendon and Feuer one trick in that suit, two in spades and one in diamonds, setting the contract two tricks. Both sides were vulnerable and the swing to Rendon was 1,090.

Patterson Tells Fertilizer Men U. S. Cotton Program Is Great Success.

The government's emergency cotton program, through which advances are made to cotton farmers on their cotton, has already been a great success in the south, LaFayette Patterson, special representative of the agricultural adjustment administration, told delegates to the southern convention of the National Fertilizer Association Tuesday night at their banquet at the Biltmore hotel.

"In one section of Texas," he said, "the farmers have already paid 98 per cent of their 1933 debt to the government. You know that if they have paid that much to the government voluntarily, they have paid large amounts of private debts. In other places the farmers are paying debts many years old."

He pointed out, however, that a large surplus still hung over the market, and that to reduce this the 1934 acreage must be cut to 40 per cent less than that planted in the period from 1928 to 1932.

The banquet, which was attended by 350 delegates, was presided over by Spencer L. Carter, of Richmond. Improvement in the fertilizer business because of improved prices of farm products was noted by John J. Watson, president of the association, in his talk at the morning session.

"The farmer is not without hope, and as for ourselves, we are looking forward with confidence to the spring and as for ourselves, we are looking forward with confidence to the spring business. We hope that operation under our code of fair practice will enable us to eliminate some of the destructive practices of the past and re-store our business to a reasonable profit basis."

Charles J. Brand, executive secretary, another speaker, said that the fertilizer industry had begun to draft its code a month before the recovery act was passed. We feel that it represents a big step forward.

Code discussions followed at the afternoon session, and an address was made by E. B. Quiggle, of general counsel for the association, on "Legal Aspects of the Code."

Two Tickets to Georgia and Tech---Waiting in a Pawn Shop

There is a pawn shop in Atlanta with a great story in it. It may be a tragedy. Or some bit of pathos. Maybe there

Two tickets to the Georgia-Georgia Tech game to be played on November 25 have been pawned for $4 at a shop down on Decatur street. The police reporter came in and told me about it yesterday afternoon. He was laughing.

"Gee," he said, "some guy bought two tickets to the Tech Georgia game. He got them right slap on the 50-yard line and then had to hock them. He got them early, so he had something planned."

And so I laughed with him. That was a new wrinkle. Hocking football tickets. And then, I couldn't

You see, the story began to worry me. The police re-porter went back and checked it up. But Uncle didn't know anything about it. The fellow just came in and pawned them.

Did he lose his job after buying the tickets? Was he all set to take his best girl out to the game? And then lose out? And get hungry? Or need to pay something on the rent?

Maybe he had to send something home? Perhaps there was some trouble?

Anyhow, I can't get the pawned football tickets out of my

It may be, of course, that some fellow simply found them or stole them and then pawned them. But I think not. There seems to be a story in this.

There are a lot of stories that go into a pawn shop. remember once pawning a watch. It was while I was in college. And I looked in the window for a long time; stared at the dice and the mandolins, the cornets, the rings, the other things. I wanted to go in, but I couldn't for a long time. I needed four dollars badly. There is something about going in a pawn shop.

But football tickets—that's something else. I hope the fellow who pawned them will read this and write in and tell us about it.

Really, now, wouldn't you like to know what's behind the pawn ticket? And if he redeems them and takes the girl?

KEEP THE PIGSKINS—HELP THE FARMERS. He came right into the office.

"Did you see what happened in the Fordham-N. Y. U. game and in the Detroit-Catholic tussle?" he asked.

"Well, stammered I, "the scores were-let me see. Fordham had a tough afternoon. In the last five min-"No, no," he said. "I am talking about what happened

"Well," said I, "they often do that. There is nothing unusual in that. You see the ball—"

"I know, I know," he said, "but this time some baseball picases the fans."

"Yes, but you see," remarked I, "the footballs cost so much that—"

"This is different," said the fellow who was talking. "This would pay dividends. It would sell the end seats. Don't you see? The fellows would start buying the end seats. A lot of guys would say, "Well, I cannot afford this game but I will get me a seat in the end zone and maybe bring home a football of piunior."

"Not only that," he said, "but it would be a boon to the present problems of the farm boards,"

"Well, there is a lot of talk shout."

THE LAST PARADE IN THE BOWL

It was not until I read about him in Mr. Paul Gallico's column that I recalled that last magnificent parade in the Yale Bowl last Saturday after Georgia had beaten Yale.

The southern crowd got the goal posts, beating the Yales to them. There were snake dances and two-man football games all over the field. The constabulary broke up some of them.

And finally the big bowl was empty. And the wind began to blow up pieces of newspaper. Little tatters of it whirled

New Manager Has Deals Brewing With Giants, Phils and Albany.

GALVESTON, Texas, Nov. 14.—
While several hundred magnates from baseball's high and low gathered here by the seawall for the 1934 national convention today, Atlanta's two representatives, Wilbert Robinson and Spencer Abbott, closeted themselves in various important conferences that will bring aid to the Crackers.

Abbott, himself, was in a huddle all day with Bill Terry, manager of the Giants, and Tom Turner, grayhaired Portland owner, in an effort to pry a right-handed pitcher loose from the latter club. The deal was nearing a close and was expected to be announced before the night is over.

Abbott is seeking Terry's help in securing an infielder from the Giants, and a first baseman from the Inter-

"I have a pitcher bought who will win 20 ball games for Atlanta this year, but I cannot give his name un-til papers are put through on him."
Abbott said tonight.

Abbott said tonight.

There also is a deal brewing with Albany of the International league and Philadelphia of the National for a couple of infielders.

Nothing was definite early tonight, since the Atlanta delegation did not reach here until late afternoon, but it is believed that by tomorrow night Atlanta will have at least four ball, players and possibly more in the fold.

GOOD PROGRESS. "Things are shaping up fine, and I would say that we're going to get enough player help before we leave here to put us on our feet," Abbott stated.

Bill Terry was very friendly with President Robinson and Abbott coming up on the train today and revealed that he had tried to influence President Stoneham, of the Giants, to buy the Atlanta club last year.

"Atlanta is the best town in the minors, and if I ever invest in the minors, I'm going to try to buy into Atlanta." Terry stated.

Charlie Moore, ex-manager of the Crackers, also came up with the Atlanta group from Memphis. Charlie has a good chance of landing a manager's job here, as he is dickering with three clubs.

Darna Ostopavitch, Lithuanian heavyweight, extended his wrestling victories to two straights here when he defeated Chief Chewchki, giant Indian, Tuesday night at the city auditorium. Ostopavitch won the first fall and so devastating were a series of

In the semi-final Dr. Carl Sarpolis, who received his doctor's degree at the University of Chicago, but took up wrestling as a more lucrative career, won his Atlanta debut. He defeated Jack Zarnos, former University of Ohio football star, in 42 minutes and then completed the one hour limit on even terms to win the decision.

Action was plentiful in the main go. The Indian began his biting and hair pulling soon after the match started but met a match in the Lithuanian. The Indian was tossed out

INSURANCE TEAM HAS TOP SCORE

The Fire Insurance team of the Amateur Bowling league was out to win games with big scores last night Amateur Bowling league was out to win games with big scores last night and this they did in a big way as they collected games of 533-568-540 for a 1.641 set, a real mark for bowlers in that loop to shoot at. Johnson, of the Fire Insurance team, had games of 117-148-114 for one of the highest sets that have been bowled in the Amateur league, a count of 379; in the second game he made three strikes in a row for his big 148 game.

The S. A. L. Railway team took one game from the leading Power Club team; J. M. Harrison Co. won two from the Candler Building Garage and United Motors Service and G. E. Co. had a well-balanced match.

In the Capital City league, the big surprise was the three-game win of the Norris "Mayfair" team over the Pinson Tire Co. Troy-Peerless Laundry won one from Norris "Gold" and the Hazel Baking Co. won three from American Bakeries.

Fields, Timmons, Smarr, Williams, Timmons, Vines, Skelton, Hunt, Dozier and Henderson had big games.

At a meeting of the league, held just prior to the bowling of the games, G. P. Dozier Jr. was elected to the post of president and J. M. Bruce was chosen as secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Dozier appointed the team captains to serve as members of the board of directors for the league and another meeting was slated for next

The Commodores went through a brisk session today in which they worked on all lines of defense.

Returns for Revenge

Coach Frank Thomas, leader of Alabama's big Red Regiment, is coming back to Atlanta Saturday to seek revenge for last year's 6-to-0 defeat at the hands of a Tech second team. A new offense, coupled with a defense that has always been strong, makes Alabama a very formidable opponents. And the Red Regiment is all for winning this game.

Tech Game Big Goal Of Alabama's Season

Frank Thomas Has Had It in His Mind Since Opening Season With Petrels.

By Jack Troy.

It was only the first game of the season but even then Coach Frank Thomas revealed that he had an obsession. A very gripping obsession. There was a glitter in his eyes when the subject was mentioned—the delicate subject of Alabama's 6-to-0 loss last year to a Georgia Tech

Thomas' Alabama team had disposed of Oglethorpe that afternoon at Tuscaloosa and the season was on. A season that would be successful only if Alabama could look back at journey's end and count Georgia the grade inside the 10-yard lines because Tech seemed to have a little power, too. . ."

Frank Thomas, who is nothing if not frank, did commit himself on one thing after that opener with Ogletorpe, with an improved defines, is working daily under Coach thorpe. He stated, without reservation, that he was sure Alabama would defeat Tennessee. And Alabama did. Alabama has not been beaten in the south, although there is a tie with Ole Miss in the records. Fordham's Rams turned back the Alabamans by the margin of a safety.

OFFENSE IMPROVES.

The Tidesmen started the season with an offense that popped and sputtered, much in the manenr of a car with water mixed in the gasoline, but the offense improved considerably in later games.

Now it is a very formidable offense. The defense is very strong, and Alabama's determination to beat Tech Saturday is just as strong.

TALMADGE EXPECTED. Governor Eugene Talmadge and his staff is expected to attend the game in addition to the governor of South Carolina and a party of prominent friends.

The return of Jake Trommerhouser and Ernie Zinkowsky to the Bear lineup will give the Bears their full strength against the Clemson Tigers. Despite early season setbacks the Tiger is expected to be a formidable foe in the centennial game.

Barring injuries during the week in practice the Bear line, which has been termed one of the strongest in the history of football at Mercer, will be intact for the game. In Swede Ollson and Red Camp the Bears have what has been termed by many writers as two of the best tackles in the south. Their play has been spectacular for the last three years and they are determined to make their last two games under the gold and black their best.

TWO GREAT ENDS.

Cotton Harrison and Nat Reasor are two stalwart ends who will form a part of that famous Bear line. They are playing their last season and a spectacular game should ensue at Savanah next Saturday when they snag those passes fired by Pistol Ball Jake Trommerhauser and others.

And I was suddenly reminded that the judge (dear old fellow, the judge) draws something like $65,000 per year from baseball. And what would be wrong with anything out of which one was drawing a modest little stipend such as that?

The judge has done a lot for the game. I have een him and heard him. I have seen him pull that old hat over one eye and ruffle that white hair, both excellent trade marks, and pose for the camera boys. And I have heard him make speeches.

But somehow I always agreed with Johnny Dobbs, one-time Cracker manager. The judge always pained Johnny. "Always playing golf in the spring and winter," said Johnny. "Always making a tour of the spring camps and playing golf and talking golf and getting $65,000 from baseball for boosting the game of golf." But the judge has come through for the grand old game.
"There is nothing wrong with baseball."

And the judge is correct. There isn't anything wrong with baseball except that the players don't give the fans much baseball these days. We've had to import clowns and bands and free days and candy for the ladies and all that sort of thing. When all the game has needed is baseball from the ball players. (Just the annual winter visit of the old remedy man.)

Saying that "today we bury economic liberalism" and that "all socialist parties in Europe are fragments," Mussolini suggested three conditions for other nations if they wished to achieve a co-operative state:

The premier denounced capitalism and named Ivar Krueger, the late match king, and Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities operator, as representatives of this system. The ideal of super-capitalism, he said, would be the standardization of the human mind to the level of the greatest.
The council of corporative system. Il Duce said, must become a substitute for the chamber. The proposed reform will not be made immediately because there is sufficient time before the March elections which, therefore, will be conducted as usual.

And Wright.

Little hope ws held Tuesday night for the recovery of Willie A. Abernathy, 42, a mechanic, and Clarence B. Wright, a painter, both of Roswell, who were injured Monday morning when a car overutrned and killed their fellow-passenger, Miss Estelle Dryman, of Roswell.

Abernathy and Wright, at Grady hospital, were raid to have fractures of the spine and other injuries. Funeral services for Miss Dryman were held Tuesday afternoon at Roswell Presbyterian church. Interment was at Dunwoody.

Austin Thomas, negro, Tuesday afternoon was admitted to Grady with a fracture of the skull and was said to be in a serious condition after being struck on Auburn avenue by an automobile driven by John Craft, negro, according to police. Officers quoted Craft as saying that Thomas jumped in front of his moving car. No case was made.

Mrs. C. D. Layton was acquitted of reckless driving in recorder's court Tuesday. The case grew out of the injury of Martha Lee Shurling, 5, and Dora Belle Samples, 7, both of 838 Avon street, on November 5.

A case of reckless driving was made Tuesday against Miss Sichry Florence, of 153 Fourth street, N. W., after her car ran into a Georgia Power Company trouble truck on Broad street, injuring her slightly, according to police,

Today Ends Ad-Writing Contest; Entrants May Enter During Day

By JAY ORR JR.

This is a sad story. Today ends the 13 weeks of the $1,300 Cash Prize Ad-Writing Contest. This means that new and old contestants will enter many more ads than usual so that their chance of wiming the sweep-stake prizes will be greater.

Much pleasure has been deriver from this profitable and fascinating contest. Many contestants have told me what a great help their prizewinning money has been to them and wish that the contest could continue indefinitely. Everyone has had a good time doing something they thought was impossible for them to do.

Have you often wondered why the milk you are at present using seems to somehow fall short in flavor of the palatable milk you remember on the farm? There's a reason --- perhaps it's because it isn't real, NATURAL RAW MILK.

Adulteration or processing is bound to change the flavor as it does the quality of the milk. There is absolutely no reason today for tampering with milk in the state which nature gives it to you. If it is produced cleanly, carefully and in a sanitary manner, as all GRADE A RAW MILK has to be produced to attain and hold the high standard it has been given, then you have all the goodness, vitamins and the rich, natural flavor of milk as you remember it on the farm.

Flagler-McClain Bridal Party Feted At Buffet Supper

Miss Catherine Flagler and William Asbury McClain, whose marriage is a highlight of today's social calendar taking place at 5:30 o'clock at Peachtree Christian chufch, were honor guests last evening at the beautifully appointed buffet supper given by Mrs. J. L. DeGive and Miss Mary L. DeGive at their home on Wieuca road, following the wedding rehearsal. Receiving with the hostesses and honor guests were Mrs. Thomas Thorne Flagler and Mrs. William A. McClain, of Sweetwater, Tenn., mothers of the honor guests.

Miss Flagler was a lovely figure in her gown of aqua-blue uncut velvet made on simple, modish lines, with a high cowl neckline in the front and low-cut decolletage in the back. Miss DeGive's gown was of eel gray satin with wide bands of fox fur outlining the short capelets over the shoulders and a low-cut neckline in the back. Mrs. DeGive was handsomely gowned in black lace combined with chiffon. All three wore shoulder sprays of rosses and valley lilies.

Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Julian Chambers, Mrs. Roscoe Hearn and Mrs. Roy Collier. Miss Anne Grey and Miss Betty Chambers presided at the coffee table. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were effectively arranged in the solarium, where a fountain was playing. Pink roses decorated the living room, and snapdragons and rosses in Dresden tints were arranged to center the decoration of the dining room table, where coffee was served. Following the supper appopular orchestra furnished music for dancing and during the supper gave a program of late music. A surprise feature of the evening was the playing of the wedding march as Miss Flagler and Mr. McClain entered the drawing room. Guests included members of the wedding party, relatives and out-of-town guests.

Miss Mary Shemwell Weds Mr. Phillips.

Weds Mr. Phillips.

ALBANY, Ga., Nov. 14.—The marriage of Miss Mary Shemwell and Richard Thomas Phillips, of Lexington, N. C., was quietly solemnized at 4:30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon in St. Paul's Episcopal church. Only the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dermot Shemwell, and her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Culbertson, were present, Mr. Culbertson acting as best man.

The young couple had issued invitations to their marriage for next Thursday but changed their plans following the bridegroom's arrival in Albany, and only the immediate family was told Sunday of the new plans.

The bride, a beautiful brunette, wore a stunning two-piece suit of azure blue matalasse wool crepe. The yoke of the dress and the short butterfly sleeves were fashioned of white corded silk, a clip of lapis-lazuli and marquisite at the neck forming the only ornament. The snugly fitting, hip-length coat was trimmed over the shoulders with wide bands of blue fox, which added to the broad shoulder effect given by the leg-o-mutton sleeves. Completing the outfit was a hat of matching blue felt and shoes and gloves to blend with the fur. Her shoulder bouquet was of Sweetheart roses and valley lilles.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips left by motor for a wedding journey to New Orleans. They will return to Albany Saturday and spend the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Shemwell before going to Lexington, N. C. to make their home.

Young People's Club Gives Dance Saturday.

A dance and bridge party which marks the first social event of the Young People's Club of the Immaculate Conception church will be given November 18, from 8:30 to 12 o'clock at the German-American Club, 80 Fourteenth street, N. INCE the earliest days of civilization every village, town and city has had its meeting place. Generations back, it was the town pump...and busy housewives laid aside their household duties for a while and rushed off to join the laughing, gossiping throng that gathered around the old town pump. And here they kept touch with what world they knew.

Gone now...the old town pump. Gone the labor filled hours of the housewife. Gas and electricity... automobiles and telephones have swept them from the lives of women ... reduced household work to a minimum.

But the instinct to gather ... to exchange news ... to be a part of the thrilling parade of life is not gone. Modern women .. keenly alive to the march of progress.. the world's affairs .. still meet to exchange news to make plans. perhaps. just to visit. And women. create the places at which they like best to meet.

Many of these places are world famous. In Paris it is the Cafe de la Paix . . . in New York . . . the Ritz . . . in San Francisco ... the St. Francis. And in Atlanta ... it is Rich's.

"Meet me at Rich's." Daily those words go flashing over the wire of the telephone ... the telegraph! They're written on letter paper... called over the back fence.

And behind that phrase ... a story. A story of an institution with a record of 66 years of WELCOME... a welome that comes from the heart...that keeps the latchstring on the door.

May those words "Meet me at Rich's" go flashing through the years to come ... on and on ... and on

I could leave him, or divorce him, but I love him better than my own life. I'd do anything for him, and I know that he has loved me, and he is still very tender toward me. He says, he loves me, but how could he, and treat me that way? If he was led that easily, and lied to me that way, how am I to know that he will not continue to do so, only being more careful and secretive?

Miss Chatfield, please help me. I do not know what to do.

ANONYMOUS. ANSWER:

Dear woman, but for faith, which a certain old writing defines as "the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen," churches would close, business would atrophy, governments would dissolve and marriage would be no more. Now it seems paradoxical to tell a woman to try to have faith in a man who has acknowledged that he has forfeited his right to be trusted, and yet this is the one and only piece of advice that any conscientious person could offer her. Many a man is kept in the straight and narrow path by the faith his wife has in him. And many a man has succumbed to temptation with the "What's-the-use-anyhow-shedoesn't-trust-me" sentence on his lips. philandering with pretty waitresses, young girls, and other women; giving his soul to them, growing colder to me.

Among those I have seen recently is one played in a game composed of several of the more prominent younger experts who convene daily. By aggressive bidding one pair reached a slam contract, which was justified because there were two or three different fortunate breaks, any one of which would have meant that the contract would be fulfilled. In the final analysis the squeeze proved to overcome the necessity for depending upon either a finesse or a suit break.

West opened the knave of hearts, which South won with the ace. Two rounds of spades showed that the suit had been divided 3-2, one of the breaks There is no defense to be made of the man's conduct. A women can never understand how a man can love her and yet betray her, nor which was necessary. South led another spade, discarding a diamond from dummy, and East had the lead. East now led the king of diamonds, can love her and yet betray her, nor can she ever feel quite the same toward her busband after she hears from his lips that he has betrayed her. However, there is her love for him, tortured but not put to death. There are the children to be considered. He is their father. And, best of all, there is hope for the man's complete reform. The pluck that carried her through poverty and ill health will carry her through this greatest of all sorrows that can come to a woman and out from dummy, and East had the lead. East now led the king of diamonds, and dummy won the ace. It seemed hardly likely that the heart suit would break, in view of the opening, but if West held the only heart stopper on the fourth round, the squeeze should be a certainty, for it seemed very unlikely that East would lead the king of diamonds into dummy's A-J-9 unless holding the queen and ten as well. In this case East would have the only diamond higher than South's eight, and West the only heart higher than dummy's seven, so that neither of them, if holding his stopper, would be able to retain more than one club when the hand had been stripped to two cards, and dummy's knave of clubs would be established regardless of whether East or West held the queen. South first tried for the heart break, of course, but when East showed out on the third round, he returned to his hand with the king of clubs and played out his three remaining trumps.

The squeeze was successful, as he had foreseen, and East was finally forced to unguard his queen of clubs, which dropped on the ace of clubs at the 12th trick, establishing the knave of clubs for the 13th.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

South is playing this hand at four spades. In what manner can he avoid that can come to a woman and out of the anguish that she suffers will come that sublime courage that only the sorely tried can exhibit.

I have reached the end of my string about the boys, so I am turning to you for advice. My best boy-friend can't keep his hands off me. I am continually in a quarrel with him over this and each time he promises to do better if I will forgive him. You know I do forgive him because I love him. How can a girl manage to have her way about this?

the conversation turned on the matter of powdering the nose as soon as a girl was seated at the table.

"Really, I hate to see it. Some girls sit down and make the real business of pulling out their campact, studying the complexion and setting to work. They go at it as grimly as if they were working on a job.

"Then there is the girl who keeps touching her hair and tucking in stray ends. She hasn't any poise. And the girl who fixes her lips with lip stick after a meal. Honestly, you would think the restaurant was a dressing room." think the restaurant was a dressing room."

Flora stopped for breath and Viola took up the tale, "You know, used to do that, until the boy I went with swore he would bring his shaving bowl and brush and razor to the table and use it. He would have done it, too. So I broke myself of the habit."

"Would he have done it, honest, would he Vi?" "Cross my heart, he would. He was that kind."

Nancy spoke up. "There is some-

Nancy spoke up, "There is something else that we do that I think is in bad taste. We stand in front of a brilliantly lighted mirror in a store and study our faces for blemishes as unconcernedly as if we were in our room at home. I often wonder what merchants think. They put a mirrored pillar in a store, light it brilliantly, put beautiful merchandise on display and then along comes a girl and acts as if the mirror were there for her own boudoir use. Did you ever stop to think about that?"

More than ever Paris is going strong on unusual effects. With this stunning afternoon model it's the one-side effect that has been created by clever seaming. Note what it does to your silhouette—a bit taller, you'll seem, and inches more slender. The neckline is deserving of acclaim for there are two flattering ways of wearing the scarf. Sleeve fullness is concentrated just below the elbow—and the small back view shows the three-quarter flared sleeve. You'l like it in wool for street and business; in faille or crepe for dressy wear.

made by America's leading furrier. on sale at Allen's for

ONE WEEK

This is a rare occurrence . . . a real and important event.

It is impossible to carry in our stocks so large and varied an assortment of fine furs. These we have for a limited time only ... from one of New York's most famous furriers. At the end of the week we must return those that have not been sold.

There are fine Silver Fox Scarfs. Russian Sables, Russian Baum Martens, Hudson Bay Sables and Stone Martens.

Imagine getting a really exquisite, genuine Silver Fox Scarf for $95!

Think of finding genuine Russian Sables. 3 skin scarfs. for 8195!

It's a rare opportunity! And it's a chance to select that Christmas gift you are going to see to it that SOMEBODY gives you!

eign exchanges provided the excitement in financial markets today.

The decreased gold value of dollars, as measured both by the R. F. C.'s daily purchasing price and the lower level assigned by European currencies, gave speculative marksmen something to shoot at.

eral commodities was not especially emphatic. United States government bonds, which had rallied for two days, resumed their slide and the investment market as a whole was depressed. Stocks closed lower after forenoon

Sterling raced up 18 cents to $5.34; it then slipped several cents from this new post-war peak. Demand for pounds was apparently lively most of the day. How large a volume of funds was being shifted to London became a subject of guesses, although no serious afternets were made to estimate rious attempts were made to estimate Outgo of Funds.

From the action of other markets the deduction could be made that funds were going into foreign currencies, or their equivalents, rather than into equities or staples. Stocks' best effort was an early rise of around 1 to 2 points for the general lies. to 2 points for the general list, a few specially favored issues bettering the upper limit of that range.

Trading turned dull before noon and when the pound began to go down Stock Exchange prices reacted, bringing a moderately lower close on a turnover of 2,169,310 shares.

turnover of 2,169,310 shares.

When French francs were at their high of 6.48 cents, the dollar's indicated gold value was approximately 60 1-2 cents, whereas on the basis of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation's posted gold price of $33.56, up 11 cents from Monday, it was 61.59 cents. Turnover in the federals was the largest since late 1924.

Cotton derived considerable support from sterling's strength, and also from the October consumption figures which were slightly above September. The favorite among commodities, however, was still silver, bar metal rising 1 1-4 cents to 45 cents an ounce and futures having an extreme appreciation of more than a cent.

Industrial stocks fared better than Industrial stocks fared better than rails or utilities during the late reaction after leading the early rise, and their net changes were largely fractional. United States Steel and United States Smelting were off about a point, General Electric. American Smelting, Case, General Motors and Kennecott eased. New York Central, American Telephone and Baltimore & Ohio lost around half a point to 2 1-2. Alcohols came under late pressure, National Distillers falling 5.

Brokers' Views

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER-

FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—
From the standpoint of technical market considerations, the immediate outlook is believed to have been rendered somewhat less favorable by the irregular course in Tuesday's market.

COURTS & CO.—We do not feel that there is any real liquidation but as we have said before, the selling Tuesday was by disappointed traders.

BEER & CO.—The thinness of the market makes it extremely vulnerable to sudden changes in sentiment and their resulting sharp rallies or declines. We feel, however, that major news developments favor the constructive side.

LIVINGSTON & CO.—Stocks will probably show a better response to the reduced value of the dollar and higher commodity prices when the present confusion has disappeared.

DOBBS & CO.—We feel that the water to constitute the constructive side.

DOBBS & CO.—We feel that the water to constitute the constructive side.

DOBBS & CO.—We feel that the water to constitute the constructive side.

poesred.

DOBBS & CO.—We feel that the market
a a pretty speculative affair under present conditions.

TENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER—Trading sentiment continues to favor the buying side because of the advance which has occurred since the inauguration of the government's monetary operations. These operations are likely to continue to dominate the market.

GOURTS & CO.—The promised anonuncement of Secretary Woodin should be a steadying influence marketwise and seems quite likely to cause expansion in the upward movement.

ward movement.

BEER & CO.—We maintain our faith in higher prices for cotton and believe the policy of buying it on all good recessions will yield good profits.

LIVINGSTON & CO.—With the country hecoming more inflation—minded every day we consider the outside buying will increase as cotton is a most attractive refuge for those who believe the dollar is destined for lower levels.

GRAIN OPINIONS. FENNER, BEANE & UNGERLEIDER— Should some new reconstruction measure levelop, we believe prices will continue to work higher work higher.
LIVINGSTON & CO.—We believe wheat prices will work higher if the government continues its present monetary policy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.-(4)-An NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(A)—An early advance of more than $1 a bale in cotton today was followed by partial reactions under realizing and scattered selling. December contracts closed at 10.02. The general market ended steady at net advances of 12 to 16 points.

of 12 to 16 points. Initial prices were 8 to 12 points Initial prices were 8 to 12 points higher on an active trade and commission house demand stimulated by relatively steady Liverpool cables. There was moderate southern selling. But offerings were readily absorbed. Spot houses were buyers of December.

After selling 21 to 24 points net higher, with all positions making new high ground for the movement, offerings increased and prices reacted moderately.

high ground for the movement, offerings increased and prices reacted moderately.

The census bureau report showing domestic consumption of 503,873 bales for October, compared with 499,486 for September, and 501,893 for October last year, was not far out of line with expectations.

Exports today 42,271, making 2,841,448 so far this season. Port receipts 60,045. United States port stocks 3,996,182.

Overnight reports from the southwest said that yesterday's advance had brought out a little more highgrade cotton, but the south was credited with selling very little here during the day and the spot basis was said to be at the peak of the year.

According to some of the reports circulating here, there was a little better spot inquiry, especially from the tire industry, and rather a better demand for export.

Part of the trade buying of December locally was attributed to price-fixing, while there was also considerable switching from December to later months.

ADVANCES 8 TO 11 POINTS

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 14.—(P)—
Cotton showed a further advance today in response to the continued climb in gold and higher sterling rates and although best prices were not maintained the close was 8 to 11 points net higher. The December contract moved temporarily above the 10-cent line, marking the first time a spot month has reached that level since mid-September. Trading was active. October mill consumption figures were favorable.

The opening was fitm owing to the strength of sterling and gold, although Liverpool cables were easier than due. Manchester reported a large inquiry for cloth but that mar-

By VICTOR EUBANK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(A)—Renewed liquidation of United States government securities unsettled the bond market today and most categories finished with a heavy tone despite some mild last-bour recoveries.

Loans of all classes apparently were depressed by another sharp decline in international dollar rates. The American unit, in terms of gold, was valued international dollar rates. The American unit, in terms of gold, was valued at one time at only a little above 60 cents, its lowest level in the past 60 years or more. The soaring of the British pound to another post-war peak at $5.34, was attributed by foreign exchange circles partly to the continued transfer of capital from the United States and France to London. Another raise in the domestic gold price of 11 cents an ounce to $33.56, was also seen as a contributing factor.

The activity in the federal list was the most pronounced since 1924, total transfers reaching nearly $9,000,000 against some $5.800,000 yesterday when some support appeared for the sliding governments. While most of this section closed above the lows for the day, losses ranged from 2-32ds to 20-32ds of a point. The largest turnover was in the new 41-4 and 31-4s, some $4,500,000 of these changing hands at a decline of 8-32ds of a point. In the corporation sector, utilities were under the most pressure. Several loans were either around or under their previous lows for the year. The industrials showed some resistance, but there were a few heavy losers in this class. Ligget & Myers. NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Bleachable cottonseed oil was firmer today on increased covering and commission house buying, promoted by the firmness of crude oil, another advance in seed prices at the south, firmness in hogs and steadiness of lard. Final prices were 9 to 13 points net higher. Sales 74 contracts. Bleachable spot nominal. December 4.88, January 5.02, March 5.20, May 5.37.

oll futures were somewhat firmer today in sympathy with advances in outside markets. Prime summer yellow oil closed at 4.25 to 4.40, up 10 points and prime crude closed at 3.50 to 3.75. Futures closed steady. No-vember 4.10; December 4.30; January 4.50; March 4.74; April 4.80; May 4.91.

Market Outlook

MAX BUCKINGHAM

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(UP)—Rumors again controlled the stock market today and increased confusion in a trading community already perpeture. The dollar dropped sharply. Share prices rose slowly. The dollar strengthened slowly. Share prices dropped sharply. Traders merely shook their heads when asked for an explanation. One broker offered as explanation: "They put the market up. They couldn't hold it there. They let it drop."

couldn't hold it there. They let it drop."

And that was about as close to a diagnosis as anyone could get. Prices at the close showed declines of fractions to 5 points after early gains extending to more than 4 points. Wheat was ragged, while cotton's early advance was pared considerably.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—(P)—Pierre S. du Pont announced today the formation of "the Conference on Railroad Recovery," which held an initial meeting, attended by 80 industrial and business leaders from various parts of the country, and presided over by du Pont as chairman.

Du Pont said at the conclusion of the meeting that no specific plan for the railroads had been discussed or formulated, but that "railroad prosperity in the main depends on national prosperity," and that "the large interest of this group is naturally in national recovery and all measures that can help to insure it."

"There is an unexpected opportunity," he said, "for all who have an interest in the future of railroads to get together, reconcile their differences of opinion and agree on a program for the future. Broad, long-time solutions arrived at in this spirit would have a reassuring and stabilizing effect on business generally which would help greatly to promote the general recovery for which everyone is striving.

West Virginia Woman Is Winner On Last Day of Dressler Contest

Marie Dressler should be a very happy lady. Not many people have had so many fine thoughts expressed about them as have been voiced during the week of The Constitution's poetry contest which closed Tuesday night, when Mrs. Irene Boiton, of Thomas. W. Va., was awarded first prize of $2.50 for the best poem of the seventh day.

Winner of second prize, a pair of tickets for "Christopher Bean," Miss Dressler's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, which comes to Loew's Grand theater November 17, Tuesday was field avenue, N. E., Atlanta.

Now that the seven-day contest is will be judged today for entrance in the national contest, in which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offers a prize of $250. The best of the seven will be sent to Miss Dressler to be judged by her.

Hundreds of poems poured in upon The Constitution during the week of the contest, and the judge was hard put to select the best, because of the excellence of the many. The contest was held in observance of Miss Dressler's event sixty-second birthday, and the poems were tributes to the veteran stage and screen star on her anniversary.

Heavy Frost Due Today in Atlanta; Midwest Is Ravaged by Frigid Gale

Freezing weather, but sunshiny was predicted for today by the weather bureau Tuesday. A temperature range of 32 to 46 degrees was expected.

Wednesday's range of temperature was 33 to 61, with a wind velocity of 100 per cent above the normal. The velocity was 20 to 25 miles an hour.

Dust clouds which hovered over Atlanta Monday were dispersed Tuesday by heavy winds, and the sky was clear. There was no rain Tuesday. The dust clouds prevailed throughout the central area of the country, and in some localities were so dense as to interfere with automobile travel. Atlanta caught the southern fringe of the clouds.

Tuesday morning's temperature was only one degree above freezing. Due

Jury Defers Action In Dupree Slaying

The Fulton county grand jury at its session Tuesday deferred action until Friday in the case of Mrs. Anne Crowe, charged with the fatal shooting last Friday night of R. D. Dupree, former city policeman. Mrs. Crowe's case was considered by the jury Tuesday but action will await the presentation of further evidence. Among other murder charges considered by the jury were the cases of H. H. Sneed, night watchman charged with the murder of J. E. Lucas, building superintendent, of The Constitution building, last Saturday night, and that of Charlie Bryant, negro, who faces a murder charge in connection with the shooting of Joe Moss, of Hapeville, September 15. Bryant's father, Wash Bryant, was acquitted of a similar charge last week.

Education Board Will Ask Civil Works Division for Money.

School participation in funds to be xpended in Atlanta by the civil works administration was sought Tuesday afternoon by the Atlanta board of education, which also voted to retain the longer school day at least until the next meeting of the board. Thomas W. Clift, school business manager, already is preparing a list of projected improvements to schools in the various wards, and will submit it to the Atlanta relief committee, headed by W. E. Mitchell, within the next few days.

The board passed resolutions calling on the state and local committee to see that Atlanta schools obtain funds to repair buildings and to relieve school congestion.

Councilman Ed L. Almand appeared before the board to explain the functions of the newly established civil works administration, which is headed by Harry L. Hopkins.

Thursday Session.

H. Reid Hunter, assistant super-intendent in charge of high schools, invited the board and the public to attend open house Thursday night in the six junior high schools.

The board approved a plan to pay half the expense of placing a male teacher at the Hillside Cottages. A committee of three will protest a proposed council ordinance prohibiting exhibition of motion pictures in schools where an admission charge is made.

Conflicts between the employes and employers of the Carwood Manufacturing Company, of Winder, submitted to the newly-created regional labor board as its first public test of the board's powers of arbitration, will be ironed out at 10 o'clock Thursday morning in an effort to reach a working agreement, following a session Tuesday in which both sides presented their cases to the board.

In the meantime, George W. Ramaker, secretary of the labor board, will visit the garment factory today to obtain figures and statistics on wages and hours for the board to use in determining just and proper working ermining just and proper working Accusation and denial flew across board's courtroom in the postof-building Wednesday as the mill fice building Wednesday as the mill hands sought to establish their contentions as to alleged dismissal of employes for participation in a union and as to alleged violations of code provisions, and the management came back with a general denial of all charges.

Charges.

Under the influence of Marion Smith, impartial chairman, the hearing proceeded in a friendly fashion, with few clashes. Testimony and eviwith few clashes. Testimony and evidence were informal, none of the witnesses being sworn, under direction from Washington. Chairman Smith stated the purpose of the board to arbitrate by peaceful means, and said that "we are not concerned with all of the things which have happened in the past, but we are concerned with what is going to happen in the future."

George L. Googe, southern representative of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. conducted the case for the mill employes, with the assistance of J. Verlyn Booth, counsel of the local compliance board at Winder, and his law partner. J. T. Brooksher. The complainants presented a number of mill workers as withesses. Attorney R. H. Kimball represented the company.

The republican senator from Minnesota, first encountered some audience disapproval when he made a reference to "Frankenstein Roosevelt" in talking about war debts which he said the president was canceling.

Another outburst came when he said Lincoln and Washington would "turn over in their graves" at NRA activities, which he asserted were being pushed "with the government controlling the newspapers, radio and movies."

Report Urges Centralization of Education Effort at Mercer.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 14.—(P)—Dr. J. E. Sammons, pastor of the Vineville Baptist church, of Macon, today was re-elected president of the Georgia Baptist convention. The Rev. B. D. Ragsdale, of Macon, was re-elected secretary and the Rev. Spencer King, of Blakely, treasurer.

Dr. Sammons was nominated by J. G. Wilkinson, of Athens, who had been mentioned as a probable candidate. The Rev. J. Seaborn Winn, of Albany, nominated the Rev. Frederick Smith, pastor of the First Baptis church here. The secretary and treas urer had no opposition.

The vote was not announ Vice presidents elected by acclama-tion were B. H. Hardy, of Barnes-ville; the Rev. C. H. Schwall, of Au-gusta; the Rev. J. F. McCluny, of Milledgeville, and the Rev. W. H.

Faust, of Atanta. The officers automatically became members of the executive committee, and Secretary Ragsdale reappointed the Rev. D. H. Warnock, of Forsyth, as assistant secretary.

The convention today was advised its resources would not support adequately all schools now being given aid in the state and heard a recom-mendation that its educational activi-ties be centered in Mercer University in Macon. The convention, meeting in the The convention, meeting in the First Baptist church here where it was organized in 1845, was presented a budget for the year of $191.170 as compared with last year's budget of approximately $180,000.

The educational report was made by a compittee of seven headed by Dr. J. E. Sammons, of Macon. It recommended that Bessie Tift College at Forsyth be made a junior college, co-ordinated with Mercer or turned over to the board of trustees for inependent operation; that Shorter ollege at Rome be turned over to the trustees without convention aid; that Brewton-Parker Institute be turned over to the trustees and that Norman Park be moved to Macon or consolidated with Mercer as a junior

The executive committee reported it had been compelled to default on a $25,000 payment due June 1 on the Atlanta Georgia Baptist hospital and recommended that the entire issue of $340,000 be refinanced with no principal payments due until 1937.

Appropriations recommended for 1934 included Mercer University, $29,000; Bessie Tift College, $5,000; Shorter College, $1,500; Norman Park Junior College, $1,500; Brewton-Parker Institute, $1,500; hospital bond interest, $20,400; convention expense, $3,200; W. M. U. promotion, $8,500; publicity and the Christian Index, $5,000; administration, $11,500; state missions, $21,000. In addition to the state budget it was proposed to allocate $41,042 for the activities of the Southern Baptist convention. and as it crashed with the automobile

Receipts for the first 10 months of 1933 were reported at $211.616.70 as compared with $223,640.97 for the same period last year.

The failure to meet the hospital bond issue payments was reported to lie in the fact that no provision had been made for it in this year's budget. The report also said deficits of $54,749, in addition to the hospital item, had been brought over from the previous year's budget and all but $7,870 of this item had been paid.

It also said there was a "reasonable probability" of reaching the end of the year without deficits such as have "hampered Georgia work and programs in previous years."
